Butler Sued for $5,000.

Monday morning J. A. Maratelli, living south of Butler on Mound Branch, by his attorney, Thomas J. Smith, filed a suit against the city of Butler for $5,000 in damages and asked that a permanent injunction be granted against the nuisance alleged to be caused by the city sewer system. Mr. Maratelli alleges in his suit that the sewer empties into the creek adjoining his land and that it has so polluted the water as to make it unfit for his stock. That odors from the sewer have made his house unhealthy as a place to live. Notice of the suit was served on Mayor J. E. Williams.—Butler Dem.

Fairview Fancies.

Miss Fannie Moreland has been suffering greatly with the toothache.

George Johnston returned to Kansas City after spending a few days with his sick mother.

Mrs. Pryor Thomas is expected to arrive Wednesday from Wyoming.

U. S. Brown had a nice horse killed by lightning Wednesday night.

Rev. Arnold, of Liberty, Mo., preached to the Bethel people Sunday morning and evening.

The readers may think I am wandering a little too much but our neighbor has a phone and cross talk is plain.

Miss Elva Drusa and James Powers, from near Mound City, Kansas, are visiting relatives in Bates and Vernon counties.

Mr. and Mrs. Lance Cotton and daughter Miss Donna Ruth of St. Louis, are visiting Mrs. Cotton of the Fairview neighborhood.

Miss Edna Barnhill of Adair Co. is visiting her sister Mrs. Theodore Shellenberger. Also her niece Miss Nellie Shellenberger of Colorado Springs is with her.

Master Frank and Paul Naggers are visiting Grandpa and Grandma Shafer. They have just returned from Idaho where they spent the summer.

If the Christian people of Rich Hill and vicinity would do their part during the Evangelist's stay in our town we do not realize the good that would be accomplished.

Mr. and Mrs. John Williams and daughter Daisy, of Nevada, are visiting the family of W. L. Rider. Mrs. Williams is a daughter of Grandma Rider.

The directors of Fairview will meet Wednesday night to hire a teacher. This is about the sixth time. We are tempted to think they are waiting to see and talk to all the pretty girls they can.

Mrs. George Shafer will entertain her Sunday School class Thursday afternoon. The little folks expect great things when they go to Mrs. Shafer. She has been a primary teacher for twenty-five years and knows just how to entertain.

Mrs. Johnston is very low from a paralytic stroke she received fourteen months ago and has been almost helpless. Two weeks ago she received the second stroke and seems to be growing weaker every day. She is a woman that will be greatly missed. Her four obedient children have certainly been a blessing to her. From one to four have been by her side continually trying to be cheerful and making life as pleasant as possible. What a comfort this will be to them in after years.

We are sorry we could not attend the Sunday school picnic but from what we hear it was certainly a success. I believe there were twelve schools represented. The country people were much surprised at that Sunday school class leading their teachers into two different melon patches. The young ladies may be thankful that the shot did not hit any of them.

Mrs. Cordelia Hornback and Mrs. Cora Crabb and little son Carl left Sunday, after visiting their parents Mr. and Mrs. George Moreland. Mrs. Hornback, who has only been here a few weeks, will go to California while Mrs. Crabb leaves for Wyoming. XXX.

Firemen to Get New Equipment.

The board of Aldermen met Wednesday of last week and ordered new equipment for the firemen of this city including a new hose truck with chemical attachments and five hundred feet of hose.

This step has long been advocated by the Tribune and will meet with the approval of every one who has the best interests of the town at heart as the need of new apparatus has been demonstrated time and again.

The Sunday School Picnic.

The Sunday school picnic held by all the Sunday schools in this neighborhood last Thursday was a decided success from every point of view. Twelve Schools were represented. There was speech-making and music and all appeared to enjoy themselves immensely.

Saloon License to Benefit Rich Hill.

Friday afternoon the County Court concluded a two day meeting, which was called to act upon bids for the construction of certain bridges, but during the session a decisive change in the method of distributing the dramshop license funds was made.

Township Clerk A. B. Stone of Rich Hill appeared before the court and presented the minutes of a meeting of the Osage township board covering a joint meeting with the boards of New Home Prairie and Lone Oak townships. At this meeting a new distribution of the funds coming to the county from dramshop licenses was agreed upon. Of the sum of $2,400 received annually Osage should receive $1,500, New Home $800, Prairie $350 and Lone Oak $250. This distribution was approved and ordered by the court. It was ordered that those funds be used in the improvement of the bottom roads leading to the city of Rich Hill.

Union Services.

The union services continue with very good attendance. The Rev. Lamance is a very interesting talker and preaches to a tent full of people every night. Many of our former friends are taking advantage of the fine weather and attending the services.
